Heavy Vote Anticipated at Special School Election Friday

School Tax Rise Issue in Election

Lemon Grove will go to the polls tomorrow (Friday) to decide whether to raise the school tax limit from 90c to $1.40. The issue has stirred up quite a bit of controversy, and much interest is being shown in the election, which is a hearty sign that Democracy still lives, at least in this part of the world. It is anticipated that an unusually large vote will be cast for a school election.

Polling places will be at the three schools, Lemon Grove, Vista La Mesa and Monterey Heights. The polls will open at 7 o'clock in the morning and remain open till 7 in the evening. Transportation will be furnished to any who need it to get to the polls. Call H 6-3756 or H 6-3283.

Most people's minds are made up about how they are going to vote in this issue, so there is hardly in need of saying anything more before the voting starts.

Public Schools Week April 23-27

The "why" of Public Schools Week, which is to be observed April 23 to 27 along with all the rest of California, was pointed out by Lewis F. Smith, Superintendent of Grossmont Union High School District.

"California has doubled its population during the past decade," he said. "With more than 10 million persons now living in the state, a gigantic burden has been imposed on our school systems."

In 1940 there were over 1,000 students in Grossmont. In 1948 the student rate jumped to over 2,600. Right now there are more than 2,800 students attending Grossmont. By 1955 it is estimated that more than 5,000 students will be eligible for admission to high school in this district. Now there are facilities for 1,800 students. When Helix High is completed, we will have facilities for 3,400. By approximately 1955, then, we'll need the third high school plant in El Cajon.

"But as impressive as is the physical side of this problem of the Public School, the world crisis and the challenge our democratic way of life is meeting is even more arresting. The public schools are essential to the preservation and extension of our American heritage of freedom. Certainly Public Schools Week affords all citizens an opportunity to get better acquainted with what our schools are doing."

The slogan of this week is "The Public School—An American Heritage." Grossmont urges everyone to visit the school this week, April 23 to 27.

Writers Give Views School Tax Now Before the People

To the Editor:

My interest in public education is personal. My son attends Lemon Grove School and my sister has been a county teacher for 15 years. Even so, I urge the defeat of the latest request of the school because I consider it to be exorbitant and unreasonable, both in amount and length of time (8 years).

Actually, Lemon Grove taxpayers pay right now a total school tax of $2.78 and an additional 50c would total $3.28 per $100 assessed valuation per taxpayer—a substantial sum, indeed, for school use.

The "poor" teachers and their take-home pay as quoted in publicity, would seem to be well off according to some of the businessmen of Lemon Grove who have stated that they wish their net profit in these days of already high taxes, would equal the teachers' net pay. Yet, businessmen and residents many of them on pensions which don't increase as the taxes rise, are the ones who have to pay school salaries. Incidentally, I believe more school salary could be well spent for the teaching personnel and less for administration.

If parents of children are assessed more taxes than they can afford to pay, the children will not benefit when their family budget shows less money for food and clothing and if, as has happened, the family must lose their home because of delinquent taxes.

For six years, as an officer and executive board member of the LG PTA I jumped every time the administration decided they needed more funds; I helped get out the "yes" vote. This year, I sincerely feel they have exceeded themselves; that money has been spent unwisely in the past, and that the children will not suffer if the current election does not carry because the administrators will be forced to come back for a more reasonable request.

Freshman Wins Valuable Award

David Ackley, freshman at Grossmont High, won the first prize in the annual $2000 General Electric Junior Scientist contest. Along with the cash award he receives a four-year scholarship to Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Presentation of the award was made last Thursday at assembly.

David is the youngest student ever to walk away with this honor. He competed with over one thousand high school boys. The theory on electronics which David developed caught the judges eye and perhaps boosted him to top spot. Dr. A. Einstein, Dr. R. Oppenheimer and Dr. D. Lillenthal were the distinguished judges. These men held up the decision until they demonstrated and proved the improbable theorem. Although it lacks complete development, it is concise and somewhat revolutionary. More experienced scientists see its use in controlling energy and x-ray equipment.

David has been interested in radio and electronics for three years. He has built much of his own experiment equipment. The small laboratory is housed in a shed next to his Lakeside home.

Benson Heads New Church Board

Andy T. Benson was elected chairman of La Mesa United Presbyterian congregation at the annual meeting held on Wednesday evening of last week. He succeeded Orval T. Robertson, also a resident of Lemon Grove.

Others named were: Mrs. Al Huebach, vice president; Mrs. M. H. McCrary, recording secretary; Mrs. Alex Antonette, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Arthur Chappelle, treasurer.

The officers will be installed on April 21, at a 7:30 o'clock dinner meeting at Casper's Rancho.

All business people are cordially invited. Reservations must be made by next Monday with Mrs. Burt Snyder, H 6-6176.

Following installation and a program, dancing will be enjoyed.

Reds to Continue Nuisance War

Rear Admiral Fleming, USN Ret., pointed out three basic weak spots in the Russian war economy in an address last Sunday before Holy Name members at St. John of the Cross.

Transportation, electric power and oil, he stated, are the vulnerable factors in all plans made by the Soviet Union.

According to the Admiral, Satellite "nuisance wars" will continue for some time but it may be possible that no Russian manpower will be used for some time. Admiral Fleming was invited to return to a future meeting of the group to give a background on his views, and he has consented to do so.

Grocer Shot in Armed Holdup Try

Forrest Hutchins, owner of the grocery store at 6198 Federal boulevard, just at the edge of San Diego city limits, was shot in a robbery attempt Wednesday evening.

Two teen-age boys were captured in Lemon Grove later in the evening by deputy sheriffs. One, Eugene Watson, aged 18, was booked in the San Diego city jail on suspicion of robbery and attempted murder. His 14-year old companion was taken to Anthony Home after questioning. The youths admitted stealing an automobile in Lemon Grove and participating in the robbery attempt, according to police, but did not remember who fired the shots that sent Hutchins to the hospital.

Hutchins was taken to La Mesa Community Hospital for treatment of two gunshot wounds in the groin and a hammer wound in his forehead. His condition is not considered critical.

The boys were captured after a search through Lemon Grove and the American Homes area. They abandoned the stolen car near the railroad tracks here and were later arrested at the east end of town.

Exhibit Shows Camp Fire Dolls

The exhibit of 36 dolls made by local Camp Fire Girls, which is nicely arranged in the Petite Shop window, has drawn a large crowd of interested spectators.

In fact, few people pass without stopping to look at the dolls. Each girl used her own ingenuity in making of the faces, hair and dresses. Many people are hoping the girls will have a "doll fair" and sell their dolls.

However, all dolls in this exhibit are to be sent overseas to some less fortunate girls.

The exhibit will remain at the Petite Shop for this week end.

Kenny Hall Gets Dayton Agency

Hall's Service, Broadway and Sweetwater, has been appointed distributor for Dayton Tires and Batteries for Lemon Grove.

In celebration of this event, Kenny Hall, in cooperation with The Dayton Rubber Co., is holding a gigantic introductory tire sale featuring the Dayton Thorobred Blue Ribbon Premium Tire. This tire, the finest manufactured in the United States, carries a two-year unconditional guarantee. This warranty is issued by the Dayton Rubber Co. and is honored by all Dayton Distributors, making it possible for the purchaser of tires to secure service and adjustments regardless of the particular locality in which he happens to be at the time service or adjustment is needed.

Hall's Service has arranged, for a limited period of 10 days, to allow 50 percent off of the list price of these tires in exchange for your old tires. This will give buyers the opportunity to change over to the Dayton Blue Ribbon Premium Tire at a minimum cost, and will give them 1 full years of guaranteed tire service. The Blue Ribbon premium has a 6 ply rating and its extra deep tread gives up to 65 percent more safe miles. You have never known such riding comfort.

Drop in and have Kenny Hall explain the great saving available to you in a change-over to Dayton Blue Ribbon Premium Tires. A complete stock of Dayton batteries will be carried and Kenny will be only too glad to serve your entire car needs.

Because of the terrific savings involved, and the national shortage of automobile tires, the 50 percent discount sale will have to be limited to 10 days, starting today (Thursday), and ending Monday, April 23. A small deposit will hold tires.

Mr. Hall invites you to help him celebrate by coming in and participating in this unusual offer.

Labor Adopts Grass Roots Program; Revision of Farm Parity Suggested

GRASS ROOTS MANIFESTO—Seven hundred small town unionists met in Washington recently, adopted a seven point manifesto, and departed for the Main Streets of America determined to marshal the support of consumer groups, including ladies' clubs, service clubs and farm organizations behind their program.

The home town unionists based their manifesto on the thesis of "equality of sacrifice for all groups." In a statement issued at the close of their meeting the group stated: "We are shocked by the cruel disregard being shown for the interests of everyday American families. We are shocked by the privilege and favoritism bestowed on a single group—big business."

One of the major points of the "grass roots" labor program: "Labor, the farmers, small business and independent consumer groups must be given full representation on all mobilization and stabilization agencies at the policy-making and administrative levels. By so doing, the government can inspire renewed public confidence and public support of controls which otherwise will be hard to take."

MAIN STREET ECONOMY—Although the situation is not too clear at the moment, there seems to be shaping up in congress a battle for the administration's budget that will strike at the Main Street level of the nation before it touches many other segments.

The Big Show

Sen. Estes Kefauver, (above), one of the senate crime investigating committee hearings in New York, provided the nation with its greatest show during recent weeks when his committee played to 15,000,000 television fans, and starring such underworld-gambling big shots as . . .

Jake "Greasy Thumb" Guzik, who refused to talk.

Frank Costello, who keeps $40,000 in cash in his home.

and James J. Carroll, who told everybody senators that television cameras scared him. The public liked the show so much it objected when a few stations switched to a brief Easter religious service.

The political objectives of the United Nations in Korea, to which no nation may justify take exceptions, might be accomplished without further bloodshed."

The state department immediately asked the defense department and the White House to curb the general's authority to issue diplomatic overtones. The controversy was taken up in the U.N. and MacArthur was criticized by British and French newspaper.

Strung-willed MacArthur, who does not believe in hiding his genius under a blanket, had nothing to say about the criticism of his latest statement. If the state department and the United Nations persist in their demands that MacArthur be silenced permanently, it might mean that pipe-smoking Doug will have his wings clipped for the first time in his long career.

DRAFT CALL CUT—Home town draft boards were notified that their April quotas had been cut in half. The army ordered a quota of 8,000 for the month instead of the previously announced 80,000. Enlistments, running higher than were anticipated, and fewer casualties in Korea than had been feared were given as reasons for the change in the induction rate.

The army at latest reports was only about 100,000 men short of its present goal of 1,500,000 men. Meanwhile, a congressional spokesman said the army should be able to halt the draft within 18 months and set up its universal-military-training program.

THE AMERICAN FARMER

Farm Plant Value Pegged at 91 Million

American farmers now own 91 billion dollars worth of land, buildings, live stock and equipment. This gigantic food "factory" turned out approximately 30 billion dollars worth of produce in 1950, or a third of the value of the "plant" itself. In 1900 and even in 1910, American agriculture produced only a sixth of its own physical value in a year. Even in prosperous 1929 it produced a little less than one-fourth of its "plant value," a recent survey revealed.

The farmer has accomplished these gains through a 900 per cent increase in his investment in tools and machinery since 1900, and by use of better methods, better seed, better livestock, and more fertilizer the report stated.

"JOHN'S OTHER WIFE" TAKES BACK SEAT . . . If you don't find supper ready tonight, don't blame it on the soap operas, but on the biggest show to hit t.v. since its invention. It's the Kefauver senate crime investigation, starring such personalities as Frank Costello, Frank Erickson, Joe Adonis, Virginia Hill Hauser, Ambassador O'Dwyer, and many others. Since the senators began their investigation in New York, the probe has caught the attention of Mrs. Housewife.

KIDS COWER FROM MORTAR BLAST . . . With the calm aplomb of seasoned veterans, two Korean waifs perch atop a haystack a few feet away from a heavy mortar of "H" company, 4th Infantry regiment, which is blasting enemy positions across the Han river. Following the example of mortar-men, they cover their ears against the sharp report.

LADY COP HAS LAST WORD . . . The gal with the gun is Detective Laurette McDonnell, and her prisoners are Michael Faglo and Anthony Caputo, two of four burglary suspects she spotted emerging from a loft building in Broome street, New York City. Miss McDonnell, who normally operates with the narcotics squad, fired several shots in an attempt to bait the other two, who made off in a truck. She held Faglo and Caputo until help arrived.

"THE CASE OF COSTELLO" . . . Grim through most of his ordeal consisting of his questioning by the senate crime committee, Frank Costello (left), recently was forced to grin broadly at the large size of the briefcase displayed by his laughing attorney, George Wolf. As Costello was queried on his financial condition, Wolf placed the huge case on the table, bringing rounds of laughter from the spectators, committee members, and witnesses.

AERIAL DEFENSE HEAD . . . Supreme headquarters of the allied forces in Europe placed air defense of the European continent in the hands of an American—Lieutenant General Lauris Norstad. His job is to make over Europe invulnerable.

MOTHER LOVE AMID RUINS . . . A Korean mother suckles her baby in the ruins of Seoul, which is in allied hands for the second time. There is not much left standing of the city, since two armies have fought over it.

JUST BETWEEN US PROBERS . . . Senator Estes Kefauver, chairman of the senate crime commission, muffs the mike as he holds a whispered discussion with Inquisitor Rudolph Halley at a session of the committee in New York.

MAKES A MILLION . . . Congressmen investigating deals in military surplus named Briton George Dawson (above) head of a group dealing in military supplies bought from the government and sold back at huge profits.

ELUSIVE ZWILLMAN . . . Abner (Longie) Zwillman, long sought by the senate crime committee, agrees to accept a subpoena. Leader of Newark's 3rd ward mob during prohibition, he was called a director of Murder, Inc.

FIRST AID to the AILING HOUSE

by Roger C. Whitman

BADLY WORN LAUNDRY TUBS

Question: The smooth finish—assumed to be cement—has worn off the bottoms and a short distance up the walls of our laundry tubs (twin). They have been in use since 1940. Now the coarser material, fine gravel, is exposed, and from time to time small particles are found adhering to the wash. I shall appreciate your giving me any suggestion which may be translated into a method of repairing this damage.

Answer: If not too rough, you might be able to smooth the surfaces by rubbing with a coarse abrasive stone. If this fails, you might call in a competent concrete worker. He may be able to clean the surfaces with a muriatic acid solution, rinse with water and put in a layer of cement mortar. If he does not think this idea practical, you could have a sheet metal (tinsmith) worker cut a sheet of stainless steel to fit the bottom of the tubs. The sheet should be taken out after each washing for thorough rinsing with clear water and the tubs should be allowed to dry out. Of course, the better plan would be to have good modern porcelain tubs put in, and get rid of the old ones.

INSULATION IN ATTIC FLOOR

Question: Please advise whether it would be of any value to place waterproof paper between the joists in the attic (i.e., the ceilings of the rooms below) before pouring or blowing in the insulation material. I intended to do the work myself and would appreciate your advice since it will require considerable additional work to lay the paper, and unless it will make the insulation more effective, I do not wish to go to this extra expense. If you do consider this waterproof paper an advantage, would you tell me what type to use?

Answer: Your plan is entirely correct, for the paper would act as a "vapor barrier" and protect the insulation from any penetration of moisture from the house air, rising through the ceiling plaster. Get what is called vapor-proof paper, for not all waterproof papers are vapor-proof. Your dealer in insulating materials will have it in stock. After putting in your insulation, cover the material with tar paper or other strong paper to protect it from dust. (Insulating batts and blankets come with a vapor-proof covering.) Or you can lay flooring instead.

Child's World Is Wonderful

The world that children live in is mighty wonderful . . . filled with little daydreams and hopes and joys that make the older folks sometimes wish they were school-age again. But boys and girls have their ups and downs, too, particularly when they are not feeling well. Ten-year-old Carmelia Plonka, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Plonka of 3302 S. Aberdeen, Chicago, Ill., was not feeling in good recently and was just too listless to get the most out of her school days. Fortunately for Carmelia, though, her grandmother suggested that her mother give her HADACOL, because she had heard how much it was helping children deficient in Vitamins B, B₁₂, Iron and Nicotin. Now Carmelia feels fine and her mother says she has a big appetite.

Here is Mrs. Plonka's statement: "My daughter Carmelia, who is 10 years old and in the fifth grade, had always been underweight and I had to positively force her to eat. She had no interest in food whatsoever, but I knew that she had to eat. When we were visiting my mother in Missouri over the Christmas holidays she suggested I give Carmelia HADACOL. I bought a large bottle of that same day and was amazed at the change in Carmelia. Her appetite picked right up and she snuggled three hearty meals a day plus in-between snacks. I have really praised HADACOL, and highly recommend it for everyone."

HADACOL can help you, if you suffer such deficiencies. Ask your druggist for HADACOL today. If your druggist does not have HADACOL, order direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana. Send no money. Just your name and address on a penny post card. Pay postman. State whether you want the $3.50 family economy size or $1.25 trial size. Remember, money cheerfully refunded unless you are 100% satisfied. ADV.

Child's Eyesight Valued Possession

Since most of man's knowledge is brought to him through his vision, it is important that vision be adequately cared for from birth. The eye is not anatomically developed until the fourth week after birth. Little by little, the child learns to coordinate the eyes and brain by practice, until his visual apparatus can discriminate size, shape, color, distance, and motion.

During pre-school years, a child's vision is constantly developing. However, the eye itself is only an instrument of vision. Sight is a brain process dependent for its correct functioning on the normal reaction of the nervous system. And when the child learns to see, his visual skills may be improperly developed, and that is why some young children are normally farsighted, and some have squint.

Glare from improperly directed light can also limit a child's efficiency in performing certain tasks. And when the child enters school, over 50 percent of the work he does is built around visual acuity within arm's reach. It is estimated that one school child in five is retarded because of visual difficulties.

School lighting, as well as home lighting, has much influence on the growth and development and visual welfare of the child. Efficient seeing is based on the proper development of the visual skills. The skills required for adequate school achievement are high visual acuity at the near point (reading and writing distance), clear distance vision, binocular vision, and wide field of vision. And only careful visual analysis can assure a child of these skills.

Through the application of modern optometry an analysis may be made of the visual apparatus to determine the degree of efficiency the child obtains in his visual skills. Modern optometry has a method for re-educating these skills. Known as Visual Training or Orthoptics, many visual problems, and cases of "crossed eyes," may be corrected with the aid of visual training. The child should be given adequate visual care to assure him of comfortable, effortless seeing throughout his life.

Your local optometrist could be one of your very best friends.

Traffic Laws are Rules of Etiquette

Traffic laws and regulations are in reality rules of motoring etiquette, according to the California Highway Patrol. Simple courtesy and consideration for the rights of other motorists and pedestrians will go far toward reducing California's accident toll, it was pointed out.

Excessive speed remains the chief cause of fatal and serious accidents. Courteous and considerate motorists never drive faster than road, weather and traffic conditions warrant.

Other traffic courtesies that will lead to safer and more pleasurable motoring were listed by the Patrol as follows:

1. Use your horn only in emergencies — never to frighten or bully your way through traffic or intersections.
2. Always dim your headlights at night for approaching motorists.
3. Never usurp the right-of-way of other drivers or pedestrians.
4. Always signal your intentions to stop, turn or pull out from the curb.
5. Always keep to the right, except when using the proper lane for passing or turning.

A good many California lawmakers still are shaking their heads over the unprecedented conference called by the California State Chamber of Commerce, last week, which brought together in Sacramento hundreds of representatives of business and agriculture with the Senate Finance Committee and Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

When delegations descend on the Capitol, the State's legislators are used to being hit up to benefit some particular group.

This time, the solons heard proposals for "rescuing California's taxpayers from the threat of added tax burdens." And an enthusiastic crowd in the gallery cheered in undisguised approval.

Speakers came from all over the State. "In order that workers have incentive to produce," J. Robert White, San Francisco attorney declared, "it is essential that they be permitted to retain at least a half of what they make. This does not appear evident in following years, when federal, State and local taxes are considered."

Milo Rowell, tax expert from Fresno, in blistering the trend toward more and more subventions between levels of government, declared: "The real danger of any subvention is that it increases the cost not only of the government 'giving' the subsidy, but of the government which receives it."

Los Angeles' civic leader James L. Beebe, underscoring the conference call for reduced State expenditures, stated: "There are a number of bills and constitutional amendments before the Legislature which would authorize issuance of bonds by the State or by a State Authority . . . for the construction of public improvements. These bills represent a dangerous loosening of fiscal practices in California and would largely take away from the people the right to decide what long term obligations they would undertake."

Lloyd Dinkelspiel, State Chamber representative, set the tone of the meeting: "We are very fearful of the results of the 'creeping increase'. By this we mean the increases of various budget items in comparatively small amounts each year, but which over a period of years produce such startling results."

Commented Senator Edwin J. Regan: "The majority of the members will welcome facts and figures from the grass roots on the ability of business and agriculture to pay for the additional maze of functions and services of State government."

Assemblyman Marvin Sherwin and Senator Ben Hulse, legislative committee finance chairmen, stated the "practical and realistic viewpoint" presented should help the Legislature "hold the line."

After the speakers had had their say, seasoned observers were heard to comment: "At last the Legislature has heard from a majority pressure group—and the majority wants less spending."

FROM THE NEWS CIRCUIT
JAMES DORAIS

Since the end of the war, folks have been coming to California in droves. And one of the first things they decide to do, after they've gotten jobs and established themselves as early settlers, is to seek out a share of that famed California gracious living by buying a home of their own.

In no section of the State is that pattern more typical than in Los Angeles County.

In recent years, Los Angeles and environs have led the Nation in new home construction. Last year, some 92,000 dwelling units, 7 per cent of the Nation's total, were built in the County.

This year, of course, it was predicted that that would all be changed. Because of credit restrictions and shortages of building materials, the home building boom of last year was expected to come to an abrupt end. But so far, reports of the home-building industry's demise appear to have been greatly exaggerated.

According to a Wall Street Journal survey, Los Angeles County dwelling "starts" during January and February totalled 12,000, which is more than 25 per cent greater than the number of starts a year ago! The boom still is very much alive.

There are two reasons why home building hasn't slackened: the two factors that were supposed to cause the slack haven't come about. Credit hasn't been restricted as drastically nor as suddenly as was expected, and material shortages, for all that they have been expertly blueprinted in Government bureaus, haven't yet shown up at the building supply houses.

Many builders who had a backlog of Veterans' Administration checks for home loans on file before credit restrictions went into effect still are offering homes to veterans on a no-down payment or 5 percent down basis. That has accounted for some of the continued activity, and can't last much longer, of course. Still Southern California builders who have run out of easy-payment deals long ago, report that buyers line up even when large down payments are required. And prices are generally a good 10 percent higher than they were a year ago.

Even under the new credit curbs, veterans can buy an $11,000 home for $1,000 down. One Los Angeles builder whose dealings have been not only with veterans but also with non-G.I. buyers required to put down $4500 for a $15,000 home, reported that in a new 90-home tract, 800 of them were received before the houses were completed.

The building boom is still with us apparently, and there is good reason to believe that California's 1951 record will equal, if not exceed, 1950's all-time high. A word of caution, however, is voiced by some business experts, and it has nothing to do with restrictions or shortages. The boom might falter because of the inexorable law of supply and demand.

New homes may be snapped up before they are finished, but older homes, some real estate people point out, are beginning to clutter the market. The point may have been reached where, in spite of the steady stream of newcomers, more dwellings are being built than are needed to accommodate them.

Consideration of Warren's billion dollar budget on the Assembly floor had been held up until the Chamber of Commerce spokesman could be heard. However, Governor Warren didn't seem to see eye to eye with the Chamber and accused them of juggling figures. Quoted Warren, "People say that figures don't lie, but liars figure. People who use figures make a fetish out of them." He further declared that "the remarks of some of the speakers of issuing fantastic statements were absurd, and their views were colored and not in accord with human instincts of our people."

Earlier in the week, measures aimed at organized crime were approved by committee and sent to the Assembly. The bills are directed at commercial gambling and the core of the underworld by prohibiting gamblers from taking expense deductions on their income tax returns. One of the bills as amended in the Senate would effect only that portion of the gamblers' operations which are illegal. This, the Governor says, would make the bill useless, as the bill should be designed to perform an important public service, and does not apply to the casual bet not made in the course of business.

Governor Warren, yesterday asked the legislature to appropriate $10 million to $15 million for civilian defense for the state and suggested earmarking a part of the $75 million rainy day fund for this purpose. An adequate defense would include regional command posts, a communication system with every city and county, rescue equipment and mobile units.

Assemblyman, Lester Davis' attempt to draw Senate bill 327, known as the electric co-op bill,

A LITTLE PERTINENT COMMENT THE PRESIDENT CANS MACARTHUR

Everybody else is having their say, so we think we'll have ours. On the firing of General MacArthur, of course. That's the only subject on everyone's tongue today. Reactions are varied, some feeling that the President did the right thing, others thinking that he added to his many mistakes of the past. We are of the latter opinion. It appears to the Review, that MacArthur, being on the ground, and acquainted with the oriental mind as he is, is in better position to judge than are the President and his advisors in far off Washington. MacArthur feels that he has not opposed the administration policies. He offered to meet the Chinese Red generals on the field and discuss terms of peace. This the President opposed. Suppose Lincoln had taken the same attitude toward Grant when he was about to meet Lee at Appomattox. No analogy here, you say. Different types of enemies. Sure. But Grant came to terms with Lee quickly and the war was over. MacArthur could have done the same thing if given a free hand. He wanted to destroy their ammunition dumps in Manchuria and was forbidden to do so. He could have put the Reds in their place and brought about peace without sacrificing face of West. Our allies appear to be pleased over the dismissal. Seems we have always done things to please other nations during the past 16 years, like stopping Gen. Patton short of Berlin. Look at the mess that has got us into. Why not do something for America once.

CAPITOL-COUNTY News Letter

BY
ASSEMBLYMAN RALPH R. CLOYD

Move to take the profit out of crime. Rural Electric Co-Op hopes dashed by Assembly.

Warren seeks $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 for civilian defense. Business and agriculture converge on Legislature to urge economy in government.

These were the major issues before the legislature as they closed the fourth week of the session. The Senate Finance and Assembly Ways and Means Committees met jointly to hear businessmen and farmers demand retrenchment of spending. Sponsored by the State Chamber of Commerce, Lloyd W. Dinkelspiel, chairman, introduced the other speakers, starting with Allen D. Sutherland of San Diego, who sounded the keynote of the meeting by urging no new taxes, holding down purchases, no new program. "California governmental services are rendered on a relatively high standard as compared with other states," Sutherland said, "with its high tax burden which cuts heavily into the family budget, it is desirable to review thoroughly all services paid for by the State both through its own and local treasuries."

Fifteen speakers from different parts of the state talked of the need for economy, and comparison was made of our taxes with other states, citing construction problems, the impact of taxes on agriculture, discouraging aid to the disabled other than that which they are now receiving as no need has been shown for the purpose. It was pointed out that California spends more for public assistance than any other state in the nation. Pleas to cut down waste in government and to make sure the 55,000 state employees are being used in the most efficient manner.

Consideration of Warren's billion dollar budget on the Assembly floor had been held up until the Chamber of Commerce spokesman could be heard. However, Governor Warren didn't seem to see eye to eye with the Chamber and accused them of juggling figures. Quoted Warren, "People say that figures don't lie, but liars figure. People who use figures make a fetish out of them." He further declared that "the remarks of some of the speakers of issuing fantastic statements were absurd, and their views were colored and not in accord with human instincts of our people."

Earlier in the week, measures aimed at organized crime were approved by committee and sent to the Assembly. The bills are directed at commercial gambling and the core of the underworld by prohibiting gamblers from taking expense deductions on their income tax returns. One of the bills as amended in the Senate would effect only that portion of the gamblers' operations which are illegal. This, the Governor says, would make the bill useless, as the bill should be designed to perform an important public service, and does not apply to the casual bet not made in the course of business.

Governor Warren, yesterday asked the legislature to appropriate $10 million to $15 million for civilian defense for the state and suggested earmarking a part of the $75 million rainy day fund for this purpose. An adequate defense would include regional command posts, a communication system with every city and county, rescue equipment and mobile units.

Assemblyman, Lester Davis' attempt to draw Senate bill 327, known as the electric co-op bill, met with failure. The bill had been bottled up in committee since last January when the Senate passed the bill 38 to 0. The measure would exempt co-ops from regulations of the California Public Utilities Commission.

The Education committee hearing now being held will be the first test of the multi-million dollar school financing bill.

The plan to change the liquor hour law for package sales passed the assembly and was sent to the Senate.

Tax exemptions for nonprofit private schools passed the Assembly on Friday.

If we as Americans show the same courage and common sense that motivated the men who sat at Philadelphia and gave us the Declaration of Independence and later the constitution of the United States, there is no domestic problem we cannot solve and there is no foreign foe we need ever fear.—William F. Knowland

FARM NEWS

AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION SERVICE

Fruit Propagation

Detailed instructions on propagation by budding and grafting have been published by the University of California College of Agriculture in a new illustrated circular, "Propagation of Fruit Plants," which may be obtained at the County office, Bldg. 1, 4005 Rosecrans San Diego. "Commercial Bushberry Growing in California" is also ready.

Talks on Tomato Growing

Tomato fruit setting and use of hormone blossom sprays will be discussed by Bernard Hall, farm advisor, at 3 Agricultural Extension Service meetings: Thursday, April 19, 10 a. m.—W. W. Miller Ranch, Mission Valley and Cabrillo Freeway. 2 p. m. at Chula Vista Vegetable Exchange 350 K St. Friday, April 20, 10 a. m.—Elmer Omori Ranch, Santa Fe Avenue San Luis Rey.

When to treat tomato bloom and what materials and concentrations and results will be outlined by Hall and many successful growers.

Sunburn Protection for Avocado Trees

Newly planted trees and older trees that have been partially or completely defoliated may need steps taken to prevent or reduce injury from sunburn. Joe Conny, farm advisor, suggests a loose newspaper or cardboard wrap, or some structure that provides shade. Whitewash or cold water paints are effective, but less desirable than wraps or shades.

The newly planted trees are most susceptible to injury just above the bud union, where considerable reflection from the surface of the ground or mulch is concentrated. Older trees may require protection on the sides of branches most exposed to the sun.

New Bulletin on Breeding Broilers

Information to help commercial poultrymen set up efficient breeding programs for increasing meat production has been published in a new University of California College of Agriculture bulletin—"Breeding Chickens for Meat Production." The bulletin is available through offices of farm advisors.

Control Ticks

Ticks on cattle and horses can be controlled by spraying or dipping with modern insecticides, says Farm Advisor Fred W. Dorman of the University of California Agricultural Extension Service. The college of Agriculture recommends toxaphene or lindane-DDT mixture for control on beef cattle or horses.

1. Mix 8 pounds of 50 per cent wettable toxaphene powder with 100 gallons of water.

2. Mix 13 ounces of 25 per cent wettable lindane plus 8 pounds of 50 per cent wettable DDT in 100 gallons of water.

Either of these formulas will kill the ticks attached to the animals and will protect them from reinfection for two or three weeks.

Toxaphene and DDT-Lindane mixtures should not be applied to milking cows or beef animals being fitted for slaughter. Use rotenone dip in such cases—10 pounds of 5 per cent rotenone, 1 pint of wetting agent, 100 gallons of water. This dip will kill the ticks on the animals but it does not remain effective for more than a few days, when the animals may again become infested.

Eating Places Come Under Price Control

Every operator of a restaurant, cocktail lounge, soft drink fountain, cafeteria or any other type of public eating place is urged by the regional Office of Price Stabilization to obtain a copy of Ceiling Price Regulation II as soon as possible, so he may determine ceiling prices for use in his establishment by April 1 and file required reports by April 30.

The definition of food under the regulation includes both alcoholic and non-alcoholic beverages.

Copies of CPR-II are available at the OPS District Office for this area, located in Fox Theatre Bldg., 1215 Fifth avenue, telephone Franklin 3122, and also from the local Chamber of Commerce.

CPR-II allows public eating places to adjust menu prices to reflect actual increases in food costs. It replaces on April 1, 1951, provisions of the General Ceiling Price Regulation of January 26 applicable to such establishments.

Reports to be filed by April 30 with the OPS District Office must show the establishment's method of operation and the "food cost per dollar of sales" in effect for the base period. Operators of restaurant chains located over more than one OPS district may file required records and reports with the OPS Regional Office, 870 Market Street, San Francisco.

The following features of the regulation are called to the attention of all businesses affected by it:

1. Any place, establishment or location, whether temporary or permanent, at or from which any meals or prepared food or beverages (alcoholic or non-alcoholic) are sold, is covered by the regulation. Any place from which food items or beverages, whether prepared or not, are sold primarily for consumption on the premises is also covered. This means not only restaurants, cafes, caterers, hotels (including room service), bars and cocktail lounges, but delicatessens, soda fountains, boarding houses, catering establishments, athletic stadiums, field kitchens, lunch wagons, hot dog carts, etc. Exemptions apply under certain conditions to meals served by hospitals, educational institutions or fraternal, charitable, religious or cultural organizations and eating cooperatives formed by Armed Forces personnel.

2. Beginning April 1, each establishment must fix its prices in line with CPR-II. After that date, no establishment covered by the regulations shall sell any meals, food items, beverages or services at prices which reflect a lower food cost per dollar of sales than is permitted by the regulation and it shall not sell at prices higher than the ceiling prices established for its operation.

Droppings and moisture should not be permitted to collect in the hutches as they serve as a medium for the propagation of disease organisms. Coccidiosis, sore hocks and other troubles are commonly encountered where a rigid program of sanitary measures is not practiced.

Some types of hutches are almost impossible to keep clean and dry. Modern, up-to-date equipment is a real aid to keeping things clean and sanitary in the rabbitry.

At the Purina Research Farm, at Gray Summit, Missouri, floors in the rabbitry are cleaned every other day using a stiff brush and disinfectant solution. Wire or metal lathe floors are the easiest to keep clean and sanitary. If the hutch has wood floors allow the hutch to dry before returning the rabbits. Once every two weeks the hutches are thoroughly cleaned with a hot lye solution and disinfected with disinfectant solution. Nest boxes should be cleaned and disinfected before the doe kindles.

Upon education our country must pin its hopes of progress, which involves scientific and technological advance, but under the direction of reason; of true prosperity, which includes external goods but does not overlook those of the soul; and of true liberty, which can exist only in society, and in a society rationally ordered.—Robert M.
